

Functional space
theoretically available to
enzyme family structure/sequence

The diagram consists of two concentric circles. The outer circle is light green and contains the text 'Functional space theoretically available to enzyme family structure/sequence'. The inner circle is light blue and contains the text 'Functional space explored in nature'. The inner circle is positioned in the lower-left quadrant of the outer circle, indicating that the explored space is a subset of the theoretically available space.

Functional
space
explored in nature